Equipment For Sewer Project Bought By City

The Murray City Council last night approved the purchase of a $13,000 piece of equipment for the Murray Water and Sewer System. The equipment is a tracked vehicle which has the capabilities of performing almost any type work in connection with the moving of dirt, grading, removing of trees and large rocks, etc. It has been used for one year, however it will be reconditioned and a new multi-purpose, hydraulically operated shovel will be mounted before it is turned over to the city.

The shovel which is located on the front of the tractor, is unique in that it can be used in several different operations.

The equipment was purchased for the department to make it possible for the system to make the sewer expansions which are contemplated for this summer.

The expansion program will cost about three quarters of a million dollars and will be done entirely by the Murray Water and Sewer System, Rob Huie Superintendent.

Councilman Leonard Vaughn reported to the council that he and Huie had looked the machine over and felt that it would fit in well with the large project. The council has already approved the general idea that more equipment will be needed if the city is to do the job itself.

The bulldozer type equipment will receive a new guarantee for six months. It is to be purchased from Roadbuilders Equipment Company of Union City, Tennessee.

Mayor Ellis reported to the council last night the state will be requested to take over maintenance of Waldrop Drive since it will be used as an entrance to the dormitory area of the college.

He also reported that plans are nearing completion for the widening of North 15th. street between Main and Chestnut streets.

Councilman Nannette reported to the council that it is time to trade one of the police cars. Bids will be requested of local dealers with the Ford police car to be traded in. Councilman Maurice Crass, Jr. reported that approval of the garbage disposal plan had been received from five of the civic clubs or organizations.

Bids will be taken on a new mower for the city cemetery.

Councilman Vaughn asked approval of the council on a method of selecting a fiscal agent for the sewerage project bond issue. Herebefore all bidders on the bonds have been present at a council meeting and all bids were opened and a fiscal agent selected.

Vaughn suggested that bids be opened by the Water and Sewer Committee and the committee and the mayor and attorney before a regular council meeting and that they be studied by this small group which would in turn make recommendations to the council.

This procedure was approved.

It was pointed out that weeds growing up on vacant lots should be kept cut in order to keep an orderly appearance in the city.

The bleachers at the Little League park in the City Park will be repaired.

The Kentucky Peace Officers Association will meet in Paducah this year. The council approved several officers attending the convention with the city to bear expenses.

Deliberation Is Begun By Lassiter Jury

DETROIT (UPI) — A Jury of nine women and three men was expected to begin deliberations today over the fate of Gordon Watson, charged with conspiring to have Royal Oak auto dealer Parvin Lassiter shot to death in a love triangle.

Albert Summer, Watson's attorney, spent five hours Friday in summing up. He argued that there were many conditions in the stories of the prosecution witnesses, and said the killing was not the result of any plot, but the spontaneous decision of three actual killers.

The three — Roy Hicks, Charles Nash and Richard Jones, all of Chattanooga, Tenn. — are serving terms for the April 6, 1959, shooting. They refused to testify when brought into court from their Jackson prison cells.

Assistant prosecutor George D. Kent followed Summer's final argument with a rebuttal.

Meanwhile, the fate of Watson's ex-lover and former co-defendant, Mrs. Nelle Lassiter, widow of the slain auto dealer, was still uncertain.

Removed as a co-defendant when doctors found her unable to assist in her defense, the attractive 38-year-old blonde has been confined to Jennings Memorial Hospital here awaiting transfer to the Lonia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

The transfer was again delayed Friday by Federal Judge Theodore Levin for at least two weeks.

Vaughn announced after a short "pre-trial conference" that a show cause hearing as to why Mrs. Lassiter should be removed from Jennings to Lonia was adjourned until 10 a. m. June 15.

Weather Report

Princeton Man Is Drowned

BENTON, Ky. (UPI) — Thomas Boaz, 24, of Princeton, Ky., drowned in Kentucky Lake Friday afternoon when he suffered a cramp after diving into the water from a boat.

George Davis, 22, of Princeton, a Radarmen 2c in the Navy, told Marshall County Sheriff George Little that he and Boaz dived into the lake, and that he heard Boaz shout that he was cramping. By the time Davis could reach him, he said, Boaz already had gone under.

The body was found at 7 p. m., caught in a submerged stump in 6 1/2 feet of water, by the Marshall County Rescue Squad.

Legislative Battle Seen On Sales Tax

PADUCAH (UPI) — A legislative battle to remove the state's retail sales tax from some items appeared a certainty today for the 1962 session of the General Assembly.

State Rep. Fred Morgan, D-McCracken, who is considered the most probable leader of the anti-administration, pro-Chandler forces in the next legislature, said Friday he would introduce two such bills himself.

Morgan said he would first introduce a measure to exempt medicine from the tax. Later, he said, he would propose removal of the tax from food.

Morgan said, "The people who have big drug bills to pay are the ones least able to pay the tax—retired people and public aid recipients."

He said he doubted that the administration would oppose the tax from food.

James Buchanan is up and about and will soon report back to work and Edward Chadwick is expected to be back soon.

George Kukahiko, the most seriously burned of the three when a piece of equipment apparently exploded and threw hot water and alkali over them, is progressing well.

He was in critical condition for several days, however his burns are healing well.

Kukahiko was standing in front of the equipment and got most of the hot water and alkali. Quick action by the three in washing themselves down with a hose is thought to have greatly reduced the extent of the burns.

Registration To Be Held Monday

All children who plan to enter the Murray City Elementary Schools this fall should register at the office, in the A. B. Austin Elementary School, according to Dennis T. Taylor, principal.

To provide the facilities, we must have an accurate account of all students who will enter, he said.

The office will be open on Monday morning, June 5, for people to register.

Oldest Home In The City Is Wrecked, Was At One Time Building For Local Church

Dr. H. M. McElrath

The Saterfield Wrecking Company of Nortonville, Kentucky is in progress of wrecking one of the oldest if not the very oldest dwelling in the city. Mr. Saterfield also wrecked the old Methodist Church and the brick residence on the corner of 6th and Maple owned by the church. The house referred to is just south of Dr. A. D. Wallace's office building on South Fifth. A local historian of old days records that the first public building constructed in the town of Murray was the Court House and the Christian Church. Both were finished in 1844. This Court House burned in 1906 but the house that was built for the Christian Church is none other than the house referred to above.

When Mr. L. D. Williams was compiling a history of the Christian Church on the occasion of their centennial he found in the record an item to the effect that a house and lot owned by the Church was sold to Dr. J. B. Sherwood for $184.00. When he found this out he was greatly perplexed as it didn't seem reasonable that any church house would sell for so little. This is accounted for in part by the purchasing power of a dollar ninety-four years ago and the fact that the house was relatively small.

This transaction was in 1867 shortly after the war between the

Three Recovering From Severe Burns

The three men who were burned at the Ryan Milk Company on the night of May 17 are reported to be recovering well.

James Buchanan is up and about and will soon report back to work and Edward Chadwick is expected to be back soon.

William King To Preach Today

"That Our Eyes May Be Opened" will be the topic of the sermon by William King, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, today at 2 p. m.

"As it is to this-day in the Holy Land," commented Pastor King on his sermon, "blindness was a common affliction in the time of Jesus. It is easy to imagine the unpleasant appearance of Bartimeus, the blind beggar in our text, as he came to Jesus. No doubt the disciples turned from him in disgust, but Jesus did not. 'Be of good comfort,' Jesus said. And then, 'What wilt thou that I should do unto thee?'"

The same as to blind Bartimeus of old, he continued Christ asks us that same question. Some of us answer, "Make me successful, Lord." Others say, "Make me rich." Still others plead, "Just leave me alone. I want nothing to do with you."

But Christ waits to hear the answer of the seeking soul, "Lord, that my eyes may be opened." Then in the measure of our faith we are brought out of the darkness into the wonderful light of Christ, King concluded.

Calloway Band Boosters To Meet On Monday Night

An important meeting of the Calloway Band Boosters Club will be held on Monday June 5 in the lunch room of Calloway County High School at 7:30 p. m.

Anyone interested in joining this group is invited to be present at the Monday meeting.

Members are urged to be present since important business will be discussed.

Chief Robertson Is Named to Commission

Fire Chief Flavil Robertson has been named to the State Safety Advisory Commission by Governor Bert T. Combs.

Robertson received a handsome certificate from Governor Combs notifying him of his appointment.

The state administration has been intensifying measures over the past months in all areas of activity urging the greater caution be taken not only on the highways, but in industry and the home.

Fire Chief Robertson has been associated with safety measures for a number of years in his duties as fire chief of the city.

The friends of Chief Robertson will be pleased to hear of this appointment by Governor Combs.

No Agenda Set Up For Talks Between The Two State Heads

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

VIENNA (UPI) — President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev started their historic summit confrontation with a firm handshake today and immediately got into discussion so intense that lunch was held up for half an hour.

The two leaders, taking each other's measure for the first time in man-to-man talks sure to shape future American-Soviet relations, greeted one another in friendly fashion outside the American ambassador's home in Vienna's suburbs.

The 44-year old President was smiling and the 67-year old Khrushchev soon wore his familiar beaming grin as they posed for photographers.

Then they retired to an airy music room overlooking a garden and began talks. At the outset four American and three Russian aides sat in.

Kennedy, as host at the first of the two day talks, had planned lunch for 1:30 p. m. But it was almost 2 p. m. before discussions broke up and the party moved to the dining room.

Gets Warm Welcome

The President got a warm reception on his arrival this morning from Paris. A crowd estimated by police at 200,000 lined streets despite a steady drizzle and rain of "willkommen" (welcome) were shouted by the Viennese as his car passed.

It was a far larger crowd than greeted Khrushchev Friday and, on that occasion there were many instances of whistling, which here signifies derision.

There was no crowd on hand at all today at the Soviet Embassy when Khrushchev drove out and crossed the city to the Schoenbrunn residence where Kennedy walked down the steps to meet him with outstretched hand.

Then Kennedy escorted Khrushchev up to the top of the steps where they turned and posed for photographers.

After a few moments they entered the residence to begin their talks. Sunday they will meet again in the Soviet Embassy.

As the two chiefs of state grasped hands at the top of the nine stone steps leading to the American Embassy door, Kennedy said to his interpreter:

"Ask him if it would be all right to shake hands again for the photographers."

Khrushchev gave an explosive assent and they vigorously did it all over again.

Kennedy had a slight smile on his face.

Khrushchev was beaming.

Then they moved inside the villa to a white-walled music room where overstuffed chairs were placed near a window overlooking a quiet garden.

After talking briefly, Kennedy and Khrushchev had lunch in the mahogany-walled dining room. They were scheduled to confer throughout the afternoon until 6 p. m. 1 p. m. EDT.

Aides Present

Both Kennedy and Khrushchev had top aides with them in the pre-lunch working session.

Kennedy had at his side U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk; special advisor on Soviet affairs Charles E. Bohlen; Ambassador to the Soviet Union Llewellyn E. Thompson, and Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs Foy Kohler.

Khrushchev had with him Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko;

Petition Of Line Opposed By Court

The Calloway Fiscal Court has passed a resolution opposing the application of Continental Tennessee Lines for an Interstate Commerce Commission certificate to operate from Cairo, Illinois to Nashville, Tennessee.

The resolution points out that the Western Kentucky Stages has served the people of Murray and Calloway County and this area for more than thirty years and that it hires about thirty employees. The resolution points to the fact that Western Kentucky Stages also caters to local passengers and has provided good service for this area.

If Continental Lines is given permission to operate through Murray, this competition would "skim the cream" off the business, the resolution continues, thus forcing the local line to lose substantial profits with the possibility of being forced out of business.

If the local stage line is forced out of business the resolution concludes, the people of the area would be denied proper transportation, employment at the bus station, and other services furnished by the Western Kentucky Stages.

The hearing on the petition of Continental will be held next week in Nashville, Tennessee, and Mayor Holmes Ellis and Councilman Leonard Vaughn will represent the city.

Continental seeks permission to come into Murray, then proceed to Nashville via the New Concord highway to the Scott-Fitzhugh bridge, cutting Paris out of its route completely.

Western Kentucky Stages has said that enough long line tickets will be taken by the prospective competitor to eliminate just enough profits to make the operation unprofitable.

The Murray City Council will also draw a resolution opposing the petition of Continental.

Dick Donovan And Johnny Buzhardt Hit Sweepstakes

By MILTON RICHMAN

Dick Donovan and Johnny Buzhardt, two guys who were beginning to think they'd never win, now know how it feels to hit the sweepstakes.

As far as they're concerned, they did—Friday night—and both easily can be excused for feeling they were long overdue.

It's a toss-up as to which had worse luck this season.

Donovan had lost five straight games for the Washington Senators by one run before finally gaining his first victory Friday night in a 12-4 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

Buzhardt also had dropped five in a row, for the Philadelphia Phillies, who had provided him with only one run while he was in action during his five previous starts. They made it up to him a bit Friday night with a 6-0 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Phil's Runt Friend

Buzhardt had it easier than Donovan Friday night. The Phils, hoping on Bob Friend for four runs in the first three innings to chase him with his seventh defeat against five victories.

But the rain finally subsided and Washington continued its attack on Ed Rakow and Paul Giel for nine more runs. Donovan collected three of the Senators' 16 hits while Dale Long drove in five runs with a homer and a double.

Detroit preserved its two-game lead in the American League with a 2-0 victory over Minnesota. Cleveland beat Los Angeles, 6-4. New York downed Chicago, 6-2, and Boston defeated Baltimore, 4-2.

Cubs Beat Reds

In the National League, Chicago snapped Cincinnati's six-game winning streak, 7-6. Los Angeles took over second place with a 6-2 win over San Francisco in 10 innings, and St. Louis defeated Milwaukee, 2-1.

Rockey Colavito, Al Kaline and Jim Bunning helped fashion the Tigers' victory over the Twins, who suffered their sixth straight defeat. Colavito hit his 13th homer in the second inning and Kaline connected for his fourth in the sixth, both blows coming off Jack Kralick. Bunning checked the Twins on four hits to even his record at 4-4.

Johnny Roman's eighth homer of the season with one on in the eighth broke a 4-4 tie between the Indians and Angels. Woodie Held also homered for the Tribe as reliever Frank Funk posted his seventh victory against three defeats. The loser was Johnny James.

Berra Homers Twice

Yogi Berra hit two homers for the Yankees and Roger Maris one to help Whitey Ford score his first victory over the White Sox since July 19, 1959. Ford allowed seven hits, including a homer by Al Smith, in bringing his season record to 7-2. Cal McLish failed to get past the third inning and was charged with his sixth defeat against two victories.

Vic Wertz' two-run homer in the ninth off Billy Hoelt won for the Red Sox over the Orioles. Wertz' blow gave rookie Don Schwall his third straight victory without a defeat. Schwall allowed seven hits, and Hoelt gave up nine.

The Cubs stretched their winning streak to five games but the first-place Reds gave them a scare by scoring five runs in the ninth. Winner Jack Curtis had a 7-1 lead when Gene Freese hit a two-run homer in the ninth. Don Elston took over for Curtis with the bases full and two out, and yielded a three-run double to pinch hitter Jerry Lynch before getting the final out. Bob Purkey was the loser.

Hits Grand Slam

Tommy Davis' grand-slam homer in the 10th led the Dodgers to their victory over the Giants and moved them within 10 percentage points of the Reds. Davis' homer came off Ed Fisher, the Giants' sixth pitcher. Willie Davis and Ron Fairly also homered for the Dodgers while starting pitcher Jack Sanford and Jim Davenport connected for the Giants. Reliever Ron Ferranski was the winner.

Ken Boyer's two-run homer was all the margin Ray Sadecki of the Cardinals needed for his victory over the slumping Braves. Sadecki permitted only four hits — three singles and a homer by Eddie Mathews. The Cards scored all their runs off loser Carlton Willey.

CLEARING THE BAR.....Dick Masters, 6'11" sophomore from Bryant, Ind., clears the bar in a night track meet. The versatile athlete is not only the track team's No. 1 high-jumper but is also a strong candidate for a starting position on the basketball team next season.

Masters Is a Master in Sports; He Is Planning Career as Coach

In the past Murray State has had many fine athletes but few so versatile as Dick Masters, ace trackman and basketball player.

The 6'11" blond sophomore from Bryant, Ind., is not only the track team's number one high-jumper, he is also a strong candidate for a starting position at guard on next year's varsity basketball team.

Dick, who has the phenomenal record of losing only twice in the high-jump during his two years of college track, started his track career in the sixth grade and continued through high school. His best jump in high school was 6'11", a mark which he has bettered by three and one-fourth inches in college.

He, in addition, to winning consistently the high jump, also has picked up points in the pole-vault for Coach Bill Furgerson's crew. Perhaps he would do even better if he did not have to contend with team mates Joe Voyles and Wendell Webb. Voyles and Webb rank one-two in the OVC pole-vaulting.

"Joe and Webb have been giving me tips and helping me improve my form, which is one of my biggest troubles in pole-vaulting," Masters commented.

Did I say Dick's track career started early? Well, his basketball career started even earlier. Four basketball-playing brothers set a hard example for Dick to match. One brother went on to play varsity ball at Westmont College in California.

During a great senior year in high school Masters averaged a sizzling 29.8 points per game, and it was in the sectional tournament that he reached his all-time high in point production when he netted 49.

In answering the question "What about Murray's chances next year?" Dick grinned and said, "Well, we've got lots of hopes. I sure hope I can do a good job for Coach Luther. We'll be pretty good, but we will be small by college standards so we will have to run a lot. Lack of experience will be the thing that will hurt us most."

Masters listed Tom Bolyard, now at Indiana University, as the best player he ever played with on the same team. "Of course Tom Stith and Frank Crawford of St. Bonaventure were the best I played against."

Dick, when asked to pick his favorite sport, said, "I really couldn't do that because I like just about all sports. In high school I even played baseball. I had to pitch because it was such a small school, but I preferred the outfield."

As you might suppose, a man with an athletic background like this wants to turn to coaching. Dick, working on a major in physical education and Industrial Arts, said he would like to coach baseball, and track, but most of all basketball when he graduates—"If I graduate," he added with a smile.

CHAPTER 18

"YOU'RE Johnny-on-the-spot, aren't you?" Colonel Ferguson said to me as we drove away from the accident scene.

"I happened to be listening to the local police calls," I said,

"and got the first report of your accident. Do you have a doctor in town?"

"I never go to doctors." He emitted a sort of snuffling

neigh through his damaged nose. "Look here, I need a drink. Isn't there someplace we can go for a drink?"

"If you say so."

I took him to a bar and grill

on the edge of the lower town.

The noon-hour crowd had thinned down to a few tables of men drinking their lunches.

I hustled Ferguson to the rear of the establishment and suggested he wash his face.

He came out of the men's room looking a little better, and ordered a rye and some rocks. I ordered a corned-beef sandwich. When the waiter was out of hearing, he pushed his face across the table toward me. His eyes were black. "What sort of man are you? Can I trust you?"

"I think so."

"You haven't simply been hanging around hoping that some of my money will rub off

on you?"

It was an insulting question, but I didn't let it insult me. I was willing to put up with a good deal for the sake of candor.

"It's a natural human hope, isn't it? Money isn't an overriding motive with me. As you may have noticed."

"Yes. You've talked to me straight from the shoulder. I'd like to feel I can do the same with you. His voice altered.

"Shoot. In my profession you learn to listen, and you learn to forget."

The waiter brought his drink.

Ferguson sucked at it greedily and set the glass down with a rap. "I want to engage your professional services, Mr. Gunnarson. That will insure your forgetting, won't it? Confidential relationship, and all that."

"I take it seriously."

"I don't mean to be offensive.

I realize I have been offensive, when this matter came up between us. I apologize." He was trying to be quiet and charming. I preferred him loud and natural.

"No apology needed. You've been under quite a strain. But we're not getting anywhere."

"We have if we've reached an agreement. Will you be my legal adviser in this matter?"

"How could that be?"

"We don't need to go into detail. I have a client in the county jail who was involved with Larry Gaines. Innocently involved, like your wife."

His eyes widened.

"And like your wife," I ad-ed, "she's suffering out the consequences."

Ferguson took a deep, yawning breath. "I saw Gaines today. It's why I lost my head. I threw discretion to the winds and tried to run him down. He aven't only knows what will happen now."

"Have you delivered the money?"

"Yes. It's when I saw him. I was instructed to procure a cardboard carton and place the money in it, then leave the carton on the front seat of my car, with the door unlocked. I parked the car where they told me to, on Ocean Boulevard near the foot of the pier, and left it standing there with the carton of money in it. Then I was supposed to walk out to the end

Cook In, Eat Out

One-Dish Meals For Summer Serving

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

WHEN the weekend dawns balmy, breezy and just plain wonderful, why not dine on porch or patio in the yard? No need to plan a cookout or take extra trouble. Instead, cook in but eat out. It's easy and it's fun.

The recipes for one-dish meals suggested today are ideal for service outdoors or in. Add hot rolls, a crisp salad, soft drinks or coffee and you're set.

Chili Beans With Corn Bread: In heavy skillet, sauté 1/2 c. thinly-sliced onions and 2 tbsp. chopped green peppers in 2 tbsp. fat. Add 1/2 lb. ground chuck. Cook until meat starts to frizzle and brown.

Remove skillet from heat and empty 1 pkg. tomato soup mix into pan. Combine with 2 c. water, 1/2 tsp. salt and 1 tsp. sugar.

Mix 2 tsp. chili powder with 1 tsp. cold water until smooth. Blend into soup-meat mixture. Cover and simmer 30 min. Uncover and simmer an additional 30 min.

Add 2 1/2 c. canned red kidney beans, undrained. Pour into an 8 x 8-in. baking pan. Top with corn bread batter made from 1 pkg. corn bread mix. Bake according to pkg. directions. Serves 6.

Baked Chicken Casserole:

Cook 1 pkg. chicken noodle soup mix in 2 1/2 c. boiling water, covered, for 7 min.

In saucepan, melt 3 tbsp. butter or margarine. Blend in 3 tbsp. flour. Stir in hot soup. Cook until thickened.

In casserole, arrange layers of 2 c. cooked green peas, 1 c. small white onions, cooked, and 1 c. cooked chicken, cut up.

Pour on soup sauce. Top with 1 c. buttered bread crumbs (1 c. soft buttered crumbs mixed with 1 tsp. butter).

Bake in hot oven, 450° F., for 15 min. Serves 6.

Fifteen Minute Beef Stew:

In pot, boil 2 1/2 c. water. Stir in 1 pkg. beef noodle soup mix, 1 c. drained canned tomatoes, 1 c. sliced leftover beef, 1 (4-oz.) can small whole onions and 1/2 tsp. sugar. Cover and simmer 10 min. Add 1 tsp. butter or margarine. Served 4.

CHILI BEANS can be real cool cooking atop new electric range that has a double oven and built-in rotisserie.

COOKED CHICKEN is cut up for a casserole baked in well-seasoned sauce made with chicken noodle soup mix.

ENJOY OUTDOOR dinner and watch TV on a new portable set with 19-inch screen, built-in antenna. Dinner was cooked indoors, rolled to patio on a handy serving cart.

HEALTH HINTS

By DR. E. H. OAKLEY, D.C.

Dr. Oakley

GLAMOR FROM WITHIN
Those movie beauties you see in television commercials, busy lathering their faces with so-and-so soap, because it is the "secret" of their beauty needn't be believed. The adage that "beauty is only skin deep" like many old proverbs, is false. Beauty is the result of good health, and this goes deep into the organs and the vital nerve ganglia of the body, which are "fed" nerve energy through the spinal column. If the liver and digestive and eliminative organs won't work because the nerves are blocked, liver spots, pustules and blemishes appear. Constipation must be overcome and the supply of vitamin C increased.

Over a century ago when sea voyages were long and fresh fruit and vegetables unobtainable the crews developed scurvy—that is, a vitamin C deficiency. Then it was discovered that drinking the juice of lemons and limes corrected the condition. That discovery has not reached many women today. On any movie set in Hollywood today you will see the stars drinking hot water and lemon juice to "clear up" their complexions and aid elimination.

Dull, brittle hair, and finger-nails which split easily manifest a calcium deficiency. The hair may be made to look "healthy" by applications of oil or lanolin, but this is only a temporary expedient. This condition calls for more milk, cheese and vegetables rich in calcium such as cabbage, preferably raw. If there is a neglected calcium deficiency, the entire bone structure of the body may suffer.

Bad health and a sick and debilitated look go together—while beauty and good health go hand in hand. A healthy girl can easily look like a movie star with a minimum of cosmetic aid. Her eyes have a sparkle and she is not only vibrant in beauty but also in robust health.
